RE: Protect the Charitable Giving Incentive

Dear Senator Kerry:

Providers' Council is honored to be among the nearly 300 Massachusetts nonprofit organizations and about 4,000 across the nation that have signed onto the attached nonprofit community letter expressing the need for and the importance of the charitable giving incentive for individuals. Collectively, the signing nonprofits employ millions of Americans and serve tens of millions in our local communities.

In the attached letter to you and your colleagues on the Joint Select Committee on Deficit Reduction, we urge your full support for the giving incentives in federal tax law so that charitable contributions can continue to support vital programs and services throughout Massachusetts. Specifically, we ask that the deficit reduction committee include in any tax reform instructions a clear, express statement that the charitable giving incentive shall not be weakened.

The challenges before the Joint Select Committee and our nation are enormous, and the nonprofit community, as always, is ready to serve as an essential partner with government. Indeed, nonprofit organizations throughout Massachusetts and the United States work every day to improve lives, strengthen communities and the economy, and lighten the burdens of government, taxpayers, and society as a whole. Nonprofits employ more than 13 million individuals nationally and contribute more than five percent to the Gross Domestic Product of the United States. In Massachusetts, nonprofits employ more nearly 14 percent of the state's workforce and generate more than $86 billion in revenue.

We recognize that the Joint Select Committee may adopt cuts and reforms that could further undermine the ability of nonprofits to deliver programs and services in our local communities, much less to expand them to meet the increased needs resulting from the lagging economy and policy choices being made at all levels of government. The attached letter makes clear that under these conditions, nonprofits may not merely be the next place for people in need to turn; we are likely their only place to turn. The charitable giving incentive is a critical tool by which nonprofit organizations are able to secure the resources needed to fill any gaps that are created and to expand to meet the growing needs.

The Providers' Council joins with the nearly 4,000 nonprofits from across our nation in asking you and your colleagues in Congress to "avoid endangering the ability of nonprofits to serve your constituents and our communities by making a clear statement in support of the charitable deduction and in opposition to proposals to reduce or cap the value of deductions for charitable contributions." We also ask you to consider the heartfelt comments from frontline nonprofits about the impact that changes to the charitable giving incentive would have on our communities:

- "With the devastating cuts to human service budgets over the past couple years, and anticipating continued cuts, enacting a law which will reduce the incentive for charitable giving by the general population will compound the effects of those draconian budget cuts. Since the state and federal government no longer feels obligated to help those less fortunate, reducing the options for others to support those individuals makes no sense. If we in the human service field do not care for the disabled and disadvantaged, who will?" Human Resources Unlimited, Springfield, MA
- "This is vital to the capacity of a broad range of human service, social service, youth and child serving organizations and schools to meet the needs of individuals and families that are in greatest need in our country." SPIN USA, Inc., Lexington, MA
- "If you believe that people give out of the goodness of their hearts, think again and come see the donations that we receive in December with "year-end tax donation" written out on the check. If you hurt non-profits, you hurt the poor people they serve. For pity's sake, take a little more from the richer people who only miss it when they don't get a tax credit for it! Thank you." Animal Umbrella, Inc., Acton, MA
- "Any weakening of the existing charitable deduction will undermine our ability to raise funds to assist the most vulnerable residents of our communities." Tri-City Community Action Program, Inc., Malden, MA
- "Poor children in Lawrence need the resources derived from charitable donations; please vote to support our children." The Community Group, Lawrence, MA

As you can see, the employees and volunteers working at nonprofits every day for the common good in communities in our state and across the country are not focused on the nuances, theories, or experiments that Congress may be considering. Rather, they are concerned with how they will meet a growing demand for their services and programs under increasingly difficult economic and public policy challenges. We ask that you send a clear signal to the millions of people served by, working for, and donating to the nonprofit community in Massachusetts that the charitable giving incentive and the programs it supports must be maintained.

Sincerely,

Michael Weekes
President and CEO

Letter from the Nonprofit Community on the Charitable Giving Incentive

November 7, 2011

The Honorable John Kerry
United States Senate
Washington, DC 20510

Dear Senator Kerry:

The undersigned nonprofit organizations urge the Joint Select Committee on Deficit Reduction to expressly preserve the charitable giving incentive for individuals so that charitable contributions can continue to support the vital programs and services on which communities and policymakers rely.

The work of nonprofit organizations throughout the United States, as reflected by the diverse organizations identified below, improves lives, strengthens communities and the economy, and lightens the burdens of government, taxpayers, and society as a whole. Nonprofits employ more than 13 million individuals nationally and contribute more than five percent to the Gross Domestic Product of the United States. Your constituents recognize the vital and ongoing work of nonprofit organizations in delivering essential services, enhancing their quality of life, and uplifting the spirit of faith, innovation, and inspiration in local communities across America.

The Joint Select Committee will undoubtedly be considering cuts in federal spending and reforms to tax laws and entitlement programs. Those changes could undermine the ability of nonprofits to maintain programs and services, much less to expand them to meet the increased needs that will result from the lagging economy and policy choices being made at all levels of government. Under these conditions, nonprofits may not merely be the next place for people in need to turn; we are likely their only place to turn. Charitable nonprofits across America must be able to count on the current tax incentives for charitable giving if there is to be any validity in the presumption of policymakers that nonprofit organizations will be there to fill the gaps.

It is imperative that Congress make no changes to the charitable giving incentive that threaten the ability of nonprofit organizations to serve those most in need and to continue to strengthen our communities. We ask that you avoid endangering the ability of nonprofits to serve your constituents and our communities by making a clear statement in support of the charitable deduction and in opposition to proposals to reduce or cap the value of deductions for charitable contributions.

Sincerely,
